General Summary

Overview

In the midst of all the rush and pressure of administering an election, it is useful to pause and reflect on the fundamental principles underlying our work. It is even more useful to apply a human face to those principles.

A voting official wrote to this office shortly after the election to describe an incident in the voting place where he worked. A couple of elderly new Canadians attended the voting place accompanied by their grandchildren. The couple spoke little English, but with the assistance of bilingual voting officials they were able to register to vote and then cast their first-ever ballots in Canada. Their happiness and excitement was evident, and it reminded him of why he enjoyed working during elections, and how precious our democratic process is.

Our work is important. The legislation is complex, and it is a challenge to ensure that the electoral process is at all times accessible and understandable to the voters and other participants. The recommendations in this report for amendments to legislation are made in that spirit.

Preparation for the Election

The preparations for a general election commence almost as soon as the previous election is officially concluded. All policies and procedures used during the election are reviewed. Assessments of the performances of all election and registration officials are undertaken, as well as of Elections BC staff. Consultations are held with all senior election and registration officers and the registered political parties which are represented on the Election Advisory Committee.

As a result of these reviews and consultations, a major project was undertaken to rework the policies and procedures which had been quickly put in place for the 1996 general election following the passage of the new Election Act.

All of our forms and guides were reviewed. A number of them were considered redundant and many were amended and/or combined to ensure efficiency and clarity. The operating manuals provided to District Electoral Officers and District Registrars of Voters were extensively rewritten to reflect procedural changes. Documentation for the training of these officials and for election officials was also rewritten. Additionally, as part of the new training package, an instructional video was produced on the procedures to be followed by election officials at a voting place.

In consultation with the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia and the Certified General Accountants Association of British Columbia, an Auditor's Guide was produced to provide guidance to auditors appointed under the Election Act on some of the unique issues that arise from the financial reporting requirements of the Act.

A number of District Electoral Officers (DEOs) retired or were not reappointed following the 1996 election. Comprehensive training seminars were held semi-annually to train new DEOs and to introduce all DEOs to new policies and procedures. In 2000/2001, training focused on new computer software for their offices, accessibility of voting places, election official training, candidate nominations, election timetable components, and financial administration.

In the lead-up to the election, advertising was created and media plans developed to ensure voters were informed of their rights, opportunities and responsibilities during the election. Operational plans and a training program were developed for our toll-free information service which provides assistance for voter registration confirmation and change of address, and information on voting opportunities and voting locations. The "Election Tool Kit" was developed for use in Grade 5 classrooms as a complement to the democracy element of the curriculum. It teaches future British Columbia voters about the electoral process and their right to vote.

Due to changes to federal law, which now requires Canada Pension Plan and income tax deductions at source for all election workers who work over 35 hours in a calendar year, custom software was developed to enable efficient payment of almost 30,000 election officials and other temporary staff. All event-critical production programs were simulation tested, the results system was enhanced, and the candidate nomination portion of the new Election Information System was rolled out for District Electoral Officers' use.

Following the adoption by the Legislative Assembly of the recommendations of the Electoral Boundaries Commission, 79 new electoral districts were created. The Electoral Geography division created 361 new voting area maps depicting the 8,462 voting areas throughout the Province. A new Location Index was published setting out the respective electoral district for each community in the Province. Additionally, the division created conversion tables to reassign over 1.5 million residential addresses and 2 million registered voters to the new electoral districts. Upon dissolution of the 36th Parliament, the 79 new electoral districts came into effect.

In conjunction with the establishment of new electoral districts, over 150 constituency associations were deregistered under the old boundaries and reregistered under the new boundaries.

Voter registration and voters list updating was very active in the year preceding the election. In 2000, 590,000 transactions were processed through the Provincial Voters List System. An additional 286,000 transactions were processed in the three and a half months prior to the election.

In preparation for the election, District Electoral Officers were asked to review all potential voting places for physical accessibility and to assess the respective voting area assignments. They also identified facilities in their electoral districts which would require the services of a "mobile" voting team, and those locations which would be best served by a special voting area designation to facilitate voting by individuals who were elderly, disabled, or incapacitated.

Conduct of the Election

With consideration to the fact that the government was in the last months of its five year mandate, the Chief Electoral Officer issued a directive to all District Electoral Officers to secure space for their election offices for April 1. By doing so, telephones were installed without incurring overtime charges, office equipment such as computers, photocopiers and fax machines were set up and tested before the election was called and over 100 tons of election supplies were shipped early from the election supply depot, providing time for the staff in the offices to unpack their supplies before the election was called.

The Chief Electoral Officer of Manitoba has stated "A democratic right is of little value if it is not known to citizens and if that right is not explained in a meaningful way." To inform the electorate of voter registration and voting opportunities during the election, the Communications division used a number of media strategies. A series of informational and motivational advertisements were published in newspapers and aired on television, radio and cable television. A flyer was distributed to every household in the Province outlining key dates during the election period and providing the telephone number for the 1-800 service. Approximately 85 operators were employed for our 1-800 service, which received over 74,000 calls during the election. Our Web site was updated daily. It received approximately 100,000 hits during the election. The division also hired and trained an Aboriginal Liaison Officer to liaise with the 197 Aboriginal Bands, 38 Tribal Councils and 28 Friendship Centres throughout the Province.

Section 41 of the Election Act makes provision for voter registration in conjunction with voting. Registered voters may also update their registration information at the time of voting. During the election, 230,921 individuals registered to vote, 180,841 in conjunction with voting. A further 87,374 registered voters updated their registration information at the time of voting.

Candidates may file standing nominations with the Chief Electoral Officer prior to an election being called and up to Day 5 of the election period. Of the 456 candidates at the election, 189 candidates filed standing nominations. 420 of the 456 candidates represented 20 registered political parties and the balance were independent or unaffiliated with a registered political party. The Election Act provides for the refunding of a candidate's $100 nomination deposit if the candidate receives at least 15% of the valid votes. 157 candidates had their nomination deposit refunded. The balance of the deposits were paid to the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

There are numerous voting opportunities available to the voters of British Columbia. As soon as a district electoral office is open a voter may cast an Alternative Absentee Vote in that office or have a vote-by-mail voting package issued to them. These opportunities are available up to 4 p.m. on General Voting Day and approximately 20,000 voters used these options.

Advance Voting places were established at 188 locations throughout the Province on the Wednesday through Saturday in the week preceding General Voting. Almost 110,000 voters voted at these opportunities.

Absentee Voting is provided for voters who cannot attend at their designated voting place to vote during the Advance Voting period or on General Voting Day. Voters may cast a vote for their electoral district of residence at any voting location in the Province. Additionally, 545 mobile voting teams attended acute care hospitals, long-term care facilities, retirement homes, remote work camps, and provincial correctional facilities and took the votes of those qualified individuals who could not get to a voting location. Approximately 56,000 voters utilized the Absentee Voting provisions.

We are very grateful for the cooperation of the Canadian Coast Guard and the Department of National Defence in facilitating the delivery of ballots to their respective members. The Coast Guard transported an election official in one of its helicopters to all staffed lightstations along BC's coast. In anticipation of the election and prior to the departure of four ships to the Persian Gulf, National Defence nominated a ship's officer from each ship to be sworn in as a special election official and receive training from Elections BC. Upon the announcement of the election, voting packages were made available to approximately 1,000 crew members on those four ships.

On General Voting Day, the 8,462 voting areas of the Province were assigned to 1,545 voting places. Just over 1.4 million voters, or 88% of voters who voted, voted at their designated voting place.

Pursuant to requests under section 136 of the Election Act, recounts were conducted by District Electoral Officers as part of final count in the electoral districts of Victoria-Beacon Hill and Victoria-Hillside. No judicial recounts were requested.

The financial agent of a registered political party, registered constituency association, or candidate must file an election financing report within 90 days after General Voting Day. Additionally, any registered election advertising sponsor incurring election advertising expenses that exceed $500 must also file a disclosure report. There were 44 registered advertising sponsors. As a result of the BC Supreme Court decision in Pacific Press v. Attorney General of BC, there were no limits on advertising sponsor expenditures.

Election Debriefings

The election was officially concluded with the return of the writs of election and the election results certified to the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly on June 7, 2001. The cycle of debriefings and reviews of policies and procedures then began.

In September, all District Registrars of Voters (the majority being Government Agents) and District Electoral Officers with their Deputies attended an election review conference. The conference agenda items were developed to address issues identified in a questionnaire which was sent to all attendees prior to the conference and to identify strategies for improvement.

Some issues identified by the District Registrars of Voters included the waste in the number of paper copies of voters lists printed for candidates which are never picked up, the need for updated training materials for registration coordinators and clerks, closer coordination of activities with District Electoral Officers and updating policies and procedures to achieve greater efficiency in the use of resources.

District Electoral Officers recommended more training opportunities with greater use of technology, continuation of the pre-election distribution of supplies and more detailed assessment of voting places with regard to voter accessibility.

Financial Reporting Overview

This report includes financial information from original election financing reports received by the Chief Electoral Officer. Many reports may have since been amended. The financial information is as filed by the financial agent and has not been reviewed to ensure accuracy or completeness.

Since Elections BC has not included cents in the summaries there may be small rounding differences from the original reports.

Political Parties

Summaries of the Statements of Income and Expenses filed by registered political parties are in section 3 of this report.

The election financing information provided in this report includes both the total inflows and outflows. Total inflows and total outflows may not be equal. The most common cause of such a difference for registered political parties is when assets held prior to the campaign period are used, and therefore reported as election expenses but not as inflows. In addition, total inflows may be greater than total outflows because the reporting periods are different. Total inflows include five components. The first four components include income from January 1, 2001, until General Voting Day (May 16, 2001). Other income is miscellaneous income related to the election only.

Political contributions – an amount of money or the value of any property or services provided without compensation by way of donation, advance, deposit, discount or otherwise.

Fundraising income – the portion of income from fundraising functions that is not reported as political contributions.

Transfers received – non-reciprocal receipts of money, goods or services from a registered constituency association or a candidate.

Loans received – the original amount of loans received. Some or all of the loan may have been repaid.

Other income – income from miscellaneous sources such as interest income.

Total outflows are related to the campaign only and are segregated as follows:

Election expenses subject to limits – the value of property or services used during a campaign period, by or on behalf of a registered political party, registered constituency association or a candidate to promote or oppose a registered political party or a candidate (e.g. advertising and office expenses). The campaign period is the time between when an election is called and the close of General Voting. The Election Act limits the amount a registered political party or candidate can spend on election expenses.

Election expenses not subject to limits – election expenses specifically excluded from the election expense limit (e.g. audit fees). This type of expense is described in section 203 of the Election Act.

Transfers given – non-reciprocal provision of money, goods or services to a registered constituency association or a candidate.

Registered Constituency Associations

Registered constituency associations are prohibited from incurring election expenses except on behalf of their nominated candidate. Therefore, registered constituency associations do not report any expenses in their election financing reports and the only outflows reported are transfers given between January 1, 2001, and General Voting Day. Total inflows include five components. The first four components include income from January 1, 2001, until General Voting Day (May 16, 2001). Other income is miscellaneous income related to the election only. Summaries of the Statements of Inflows and Transfers filed by registered constituency associations are in section 4 of this report.

Political contributions – an amount of money or the value of any property or services provided without compensation by way of donation, advance, deposit, discount or otherwise.

Fundraising income – the portion of income from fundraising functions that is not reported as political contributions.

Transfers received – non-reciprocal receipts of money, goods or services from a registered political party or a candidate.

Loans received – the original amount of loans received. Some or all of the loan may have been repaid.

Other income – income from miscellaneous sources such as interest income.

The only outflows reported by registered constituency associations in election financing reports are:

Transfers given – non-reciprocal provision of money, goods or services to a registered political party or a candidate.

Candidates

The election financing information provided in this report includes both the total inflows and outflows. Total inflows and total outflows may not be equal. One cause of such a difference is when items owned by the candidate prior to the campaign period are used, and therefore reported as election expenses but not as inflows. Summaries of the candidates' election financing reports are in section 5 of this report.

Political contributions – an amount of money or the value of any property or services provided without compensation by way of donation, advance, deposit, discount or otherwise.

Fundraising income – the portion of income from fundraising functions that is not reported as political contributions.

Transfers received – non-reciprocal receipts of money, goods or services from a registered political party or a registered constituency association.

Loans received – the original amount of loans received. Some or all of the loan may have been repaid.

Other income – income from miscellaneous sources such as interest income.

Total outflows are segregated as follows:

Election expenses subject to limits – the value of property or services used during a campaign period, by or on behalf of a registered political party, registered constituency association or a candidate to promote or oppose a registered political party or a candidate (e.g. advertising and office expenses). The campaign period is the time between when an election is called and the close of General Voting. The Election Act limits the amount a registered political party or candidate can spend on election expenses.

Election expenses not subject to limits – election expenses specifically excluded from the election expense limit (e.g. nomination deposit and audit fees). This type of expense is described in section 203 of the Election Act.

Non election expenses – expenses used outside the campaign period but in relation to the election.

Transfers given – non-reciprocal provision of money, goods or services to a registered political party or a registered constituency association.

Registered Election Advertising Sponsors

The following definitions are relevant to election advertising sponsors:

Election advertising – advertising used during a campaign period to promote or oppose, directly or indirectly, a candidate or registered political party.

Contributions – money provided to a sponsor of election advertising during the period beginning six months before an election is called and ending on General Voting Day.

Amount of sponsor's assets used – the value of the sponsor's assets used to pay for election advertising. This amount does not include contributions referred to above.

Value of election advertising – the market value of preparing and conducting election advertising.

Under section 244 of the Election Act, a registered advertising sponsor is not required to file a financial disclosure report if, during the campaign period, the advertising sponsored did not have a total value of $500 or more. Summaries of disclosure reports for election advertising sponsors who sponsored advertising with a total value of $500 or more are in section 6 of this report.

Filing Deadlines

The financial agent of a registered political party, registered constituency association or candidate must file an election financing report with the Chief Electoral Officer within 90 days after General Voting Day (August 14, 2001, in relation to the May 16, 2001, provincial general election).

If during a campaign period a registered election advertising sponsor incurs election advertising expenses of $500 or more, an election advertising disclosure report must be filed with the Chief Electoral Officer within 90 days after General Voting Day.

Several new guides were developed and seven financial agent training sessions were offered in preparation for the May 16, 2001 general election. As a result of this increased focus on training, the number of extensions to the filing deadline decreased to 42 from 66 following the previous general election, and the number of entities that filed late decreased from 49 to 7.

Recommendations for Amendments to the Election Act

Recommendations for Amendments to the Election Act

In our report on the 1996 general election, after a series of consultations, a number of recommendations were put forward for amendments to sections of the recently enacted Election Act. As stated in that report, the recommendations were not intended to undermine the intent or effectiveness of the Act but to increase economies and efficiencies in electoral administration.

During the interval between the 1996 and 2001 general elections, and with the experience of the 2001 election, a number of the issues have been resolved. Consequently, the following recommendations for legislative amendments reflect those issues which we feel continue to require some fine tuning of the Election Act.

The Election Advisory Committee has been consulted regarding these recommendations.

During each electoral event this office receives numerous complaints from residents of rental properties and strata properties who are forbidden from displaying election advertising at their residence. The Election Act is silent on this issue, however, the Canada Elections Act specifically permits such activity. With reflection on the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, specifically section 2 (b) as it relates to freedom of expression, consideration should be given to permitting all individuals to display election advertising at their residence.

Section 24 - Order for a general election; and
Section 25 - Order for a by-election

In our 1996 Report we recommended a fixed day of the week for General Voting Day. By an amendment to the Constitution Act in 2001 to establish a fixed election date, Tuesday has been established as General Voting Day for general elections. For consistency, it would be desirable to establish that General Voting Day for all elections be a Tuesday.

Recommendation: Tuesday be made General Voting Day for all elections held under the Election Act.

Section 27 - General Voting Day

A Tuesday voting day presents a major concern for children's safety. The most accessible, convenient and well known locations for voting places are public schools, but using these facilities creates potential risk to students' safety. These safety concerns continue to be raised with this office by parents and school administrators. The best option would be to not have students in attendance at school on General Voting Day. In the province of Quebec, General Voting Day has been declared "a holiday for pupils in every school of a school board situated in an electoral district in which an election is held" [section 306, Quebec Election Act]. This solution has worked extremely well.

Recommendation: Provision should be made that children will not be in attendance at school on General Voting Day for a general election. The example of Quebec may be followed or General Voting Day could be designated as either an "administrative day" or a "non-instructional day" as defined in the School Calendar Regulation.

Section 31 - Who may register

At less than 30 percent of those eligible, voter registration by voters 18 - 24 years of age is the lowest of all age groups. Many theories have been put forward for the lack of participation by this age group, but once registered, the youth segment turn out to vote at the same rate as the rest of the voter population. The challenge is to get youth registered. The most effective means of registering youth is to approach them in high school. Currently, voter registration is restricted to those at least 18 years of age, an age when many youth have left high school. Australia has addressed this issue in a unique way. Its electoral legislation allows for a provisional voter registration of 17 year olds. In British Columbia, using the age of 16 would permit Elections BC to work with schools and the drivers' licensing program to ensure maximum exposure to the registration process for young voters. The voting age could continue to be 18, with provisional registration becoming active on an individual's 18th birthday.

Recommendation: Permit the provisional voter registration of 16 year olds.

Section 46 (2) (e) - Updating the Provincial list of voters

As a result of Where To Vote notices returned during an election and information supplied by provincial and municipal election officials or through the Motor Voter Program, Elections BC regularly becomes aware of voters who no longer reside at the address shown on the list of voters. Section 46 requires that, before a voter's name is removed from the list of voters, a notice be mailed to these voters advising them that their name will be removed if they do not contact the Chief Electoral Officer within 60 days. This is not an effective use of resources as Elections BC knows the voter is no longer at the address on file and the notice will be returned as undeliverable.

Recommendation: Permit the Chief Electoral Officer to establish by regulation criteria by which names may be removed from the list of voters.

Section 48 - Access to lists of voters during election

This section requires candidates in an election to obtain their copies of the lists of voters from their respective District Registrar of Voters. Section 22 of the Act requires that a District Registrar be an individual who is employed in the public service of the Province. For 48 electoral districts these appointments were held by our regional office managers. With the closure of our regional offices due to budget reductions, there are no longer District Registrars in the regions previously administered by these offices. That role has been transferred to headquarters in Victoria. Consequently, there will be no regional District Registrar from whom candidates will be able to obtain their lists of voters. Candidates could obtain their lists of voters from their respective District Electoral Officers if section 48 were amended to read that the Chief Electoral Officer is to provide the lists of voters, which could be done through the offices of the District Electoral Officers.

Recommendation: It is recommended that the reference to the District Registrar of Voters in subsection (1) be replaced with a reference to the Chief Electoral Officer.

Section 57 - Standing nominations filed with the Chief Electoral Officer

The Election Act requires that all standing nomination papers be forwarded to the respective District Electoral Officers by the Chief Electoral Officer following the close of the standing nomination period. This includes those papers from individuals who have withdrawn their candidacy during the standing nomination period and those who failed to complete the filings required for a standing nomination. As these particular individuals are not candidates, there should not be a requirement to forward their nomination papers to District Electoral Officers. In past elections, a number of these individuals have reconsidered and decided to become candidates and have filed a second set of nomination documents directly with a District Electoral Officer. Having two sets of nomination documents for the same individual in a district electoral office has resulted in considerable confusion for all involved. Consequently, the standing nomination documentation for these individuals should be retained at the office of the Chief Electoral Officer.

Recommendation: Standing nomination papers of those individuals who have withdrawn or who fail to complete their filing should be retained in the office of the Chief Electoral Officer.

Section 64 - Withdrawal of candidate

The Act permits candidates to withdraw their candidacy up to 48 hours before the start of General Voting. At the 2001 general election over 116,000 voters cast ballots in advance of General Voting Day. At the 1996 general election, over 90,000 voters voted during the Advance Voting period. Also at the 1996 election, four candidates withdrew their candidacy during the Advance Voting period. Consequently, as a result of these withdrawals, voters were effectively disfranchised by having cast their vote for one of those candidates.

Recommendation: It is recommended that the deadline for withdrawal as a candidate be changed to 48 hours before the start of Advance Voting.

Section 77 (4) - Special voting opportunities
[also Section 80 (4) - Voting areas]

The term "special voting area" implies that voting is conducted on an absentee basis with ballots placed in certification envelopes when, in fact, General Voting procedures are followed with ballots placed directly into a ballot box. These voting areas are established for facilities where the voters are normally resident, such as long term care residences. Each of these voting areas is specifically identified by its physical address. The word "special" should be replaced with another term to eliminate confusion with "Special Voting."

Recommendation: It is recommended that the term "special voting area" be replaced with the term "reserved voting area" to avoid confusion with "Special Voting."

Section 86 (4) - Ballots

Where two or more candidates in an electoral district have the same name, the Chief Electoral Officer may modify the names or include additional information in order to differentiate those candidates. However, the Election Act requires that all of those candidates agree with the Chief Electoral Officer's determination. If agreement is not achievable, candidates and voters will be adversely affected by confusion with the same names.

Recommendation: In order to permit the Chief Electoral Officer to deal effectively with the ballot issue of candidates with the same name, it is recommended that the words "and the approval of those candidates" be deleted.

Section 134 - Consideration of certification envelopes

This section deals with the consideration of certification envelopes in preparation for final count. It references section 124, which deals with objections to the acceptance of a vote or rejection of a ballot. During the final count of the 2001 general election, the reference in section 124 (4) to ballots became problematic in interpretation of section 134 (3), as the process established in section 124 (4) requires the marking of the back of the ballot, which under section 134 (3) has not yet been removed from the certification envelope. It would be preferable to establish specific rules with respect to the process to be followed in recording an objection to whether a certification envelope is to remain unopened.

Recommendation: Make it clear that where reference is made to a ballot in section 124, it should be read as a certification envelope in relation to section 134 (3).

Section 155 (3) (g) - Registration of a political party, and
Section 157 (3) (e) - Registration of a constituency association

Section 155 (3) sets out the information which a political party must file as part of its application for registration. Clause 155 (3) (i) requires the filing of the name and address of the financial agent. Often the contact address for the political party and the address where records are kept is that of the financial agent. There have been numerous instances where the financial agent has given up that role, and Elections BC has not been informed of the name and address of the new financial agent. Consequently, we have no way to contact that political party. Clause 155 (3) (g) requires that only the names of the principal officers of the political party be filed as part of the application. To ensure that Elections BC has more than one address through which it can correspond with a political party, principal officers of a political party should have contact addresses on file with Elections BC. Similar issues regularly arise with constituency associations, consequently, more information is also needed for principal officers of the associations.

Recommendation: Section 155 (3) (g) be amended to require the filing of contact addresses of each of the principal officers of a political party and section 157 (3) (e) be similarly amended for constituency associations.

Section 155 (3) (j) - Registration of a political party, and
Section 157 (3) (h) - Registration of a constituency association

Section 276 of the Election Act requires the Chief Electoral Officer to "conduct periodic investigations of the financial affairs of registered political parties, registered constituency associations, candidates, leadership contestants and registered sponsors for the purpose of ensuring compliance with this Act". The Chief Electoral Officer also conducts audits and other financial investigations. These investigations have been significantly hampered by the inability of this office to access bank account records because there is no requirement to file account numbers when filing the names and addresses of the savings institutions to be used by the political party or constituency association.

Recommendation: Amend sections 155 (3) (j) and 157 (3) (h) to require the account numbers as well as the names and addresses of the savings institutions to be filed as part of the registration documentation.

Section 159 - Changes in registration information

This section requires that registered political parties and registered constituency associations file with the Chief Electoral Officer notice of any change in the information contained in their registration documentation within 60 days after the change occurs. The majority of the changes are in relation to changes in principal officers and financial agents. Many organizations fail to advise this office of such changes. This results in considerable administrative effort on the part of this office to find out who the new officers and agents are and how to contact them. Section 262 establishes an offence and provides penalties, up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment for up to one year, for failure to do so. Realistically, it is unlikely that the Crown would prosecute such an offence. It would be more effective to have an administrative penalty of suspension of registration until the updated information is filed with the Chief Electoral Officer. A suspension of registration prohibits the issuance of tax receipts, the incurring of election expenses, and identification on the ballot.

Recommendation: Amend section 159 to include an administrative penalty of suspension of registration of an organization, which does not file notice of a change within 60 days after it occurs, until the updated information is provided.

Section 162 - Registers and other information open to the public

This section requires that the registers of political parties and constituency associations, and the information filed by those organizations, be available for public inspection. The recommendation that account numbers of the savings institutions used by political parties and constituency associations be filed with Elections BC would result in those account numbers being made public. Such information should be confidential.

Recommendation: Amend section 162 to exclude the account numbers from information available for public inspection.

Section 170 - Financial reports required on deregistration, and
Section 171 - Assets of deregistered organization to be held in trust

The Act requires that a deregistered organization submit financial reports and any surplus funds, to be held in trust by the Chief Electoral Officer, following the deregistration. There is no deadline, however, by which the organization is to do so, which can effectively mean no final report or accounting for the organization's funds.

Recommendation: It is recommended that a deadline of six months be established for the filing of the final financial report and any surplus funds.

Section 170 requires a organization to file two separate financial reports upon deregistration; one at official deregistration and one upon the financial wrap-up of the organization. Both of these reports must be audited. For a small organization with limited financial resources the required audits may cost more than the funds available. Consideration should be given to setting a financial threshold below which audits would not be required.

Recommendation: Add a provision that an audit is only required if there has been $5,000 or more in expenditures or political contributions since the filing of the last financial report.

Section 175 - Requirement for financial agent

The Act requires registered political parties and registered constituency associations to have a financial agent, and if the appointment of the financial agent ends for any reason, the organization must appoint a new one "as soon as possible". There is often a considerable delay in appointing new financial agents, and Elections BC finds it very difficult to complete compliance reviews when there is no one in that capacity. The absence of a financial agent is contrary to the intent of the Act, and means no one is accountable for the financial affairs of the organization. It would be appropriate to establish a deadline for replacing financial agents to ensure continuity and compliance with the requirements of the Act.

Recommendation: Amend section 175 (4) to require a registered political party or registered constituency association to appoint a new financial agent within 60 days of the vacancy occurring.

Section 177 (2) - Obligations of financial agent, and
Section 207 (3) (g) - Annual financial reports by registered political parties and constituency associations, and Section 209 (2) (e) - Election financing reports by candidates, and Section 210 (2) (e) - Election financing reports by registered political parties and constituency associations, and
Section 211 (2) (c) - Leadership contestant financing reports

These sections establish the information that must be disclosed in relation to loans. The Act does not specify that the due date of the loan be recorded or disclosed. However, section 181 (3) establishes that a debt becomes a political contribution if it remains unpaid for six months after becoming due if no legal proceedings to recover the debt have been commenced by the creditor. It is therefore important that the due date of the loan be recorded and disclosed to establish whether the debt has become a political contribution.

Recommendation: Amend section 177 (2) to include the due date as information that must be recorded at the time a loan is made. Amend sections 207 (3) (g), 209 (2) (e), 210 (2) (e) and 211 (2) (c) to require the disclosure of the due date of loans.

Section 177 (2) (b) - Obligations of financial agent

The Act requires that the financial agent for every party, constituency association and candidate establish an account in a savings institution to process their respective financial transactions. A clarifying amendment is required to ensure that financial agents recognize that there must be a separate account established for each organization and candidate to prevent the combining of financial transactions and to ensure an adequate audit trail.

Recommendation: It should be made clear that a financial agent of a political party, constituency association or candidate must establish a separate bank account for each organization or candidate.

Section 178 - Deputy financial agent for issuing tax receipts

The Act restricts the authority of deputy financial agents to the receiving of political contributions and the issuing of income tax receipts for those contributions. The Act should be amended to permit deputy financial agents to file financing reports in the absence or incapacity of the financial agent.

Recommendation: Permit a deputy financial agent to file financing reports in the absence or incapacity of the financial agent.

Section 179 - Appointment of auditor

The Act requires registered political parties, registered constituency associations and candidates to have an auditor, and if the appointment of the auditor ends for any reason, a new one be appointed "as soon as possible". There is often a considerable delay in appointing a new auditor, and Elections BC finds it very difficult to complete compliance reviews when there is no one in that capacity. The absence of an auditor is contrary to the intent of the Act. It would be appropriate to establish a deadline for replacing auditors to ensure availability and compliance with the requirements of the Act.

Recommendation: Amend section 179 (2) to require a candidate, registered political party or registered constituency association to appoint a new auditor within 60 days of the vacancy occurring.

Section 180 (6) - Political contributions generally

The Act provides for vertical transfers between the various 'levels' of a registered political party, but there is no provision for horizontal transfers between entities at the same level, for example between registered constituency associations or between candidate campaigns. The horizontal reallocation of resources, as transfers, should be provided for in the Act. Furthermore, consistent with our recommended amendment to section 193 regarding the incurring and paying of leadership expenses, registered political parties and their leadership contestants should be permitted to make transfers to each other.

Recommendation: Provisions should be made for transfers between candidates of the same registered party and between registered constituency associations of the same registered party and for transfers between a registered party and its leadership contestants.

Section 183 - Election expenses, and
Section 184 - Contestant expenses

In clause (4) (b) of both sections 183 and 184, the Act speaks of travel "to or within" an electoral district - but not travel "from" the electoral district. For candidates, this was temporarily dealt with at the May 1996 general election by a regulation referred to in section 183 (4) (f). A preferable solution would be to amend both sections.

Recommendation: Amend section 183 (4) (b) and section 184 (4) (b) to cover travel "from" the electoral district.

Section 183 - Election expenses, and
Section 203 - Expenses not to be included in calculating amounts subject to limit

Section 183 (3) provides that "a deficit incurred in holding a fundraising function during a campaign period is an election expense." Section 203 (1) (f) provides that "expenses incurred in holding a fundraising function if no deficit is incurred" are to be excluded from expenses subject to expenses limits. The Act is not clear about how one is to deal with costs incurred in holding a fundraising function that does incur a deficit. If both costs and the deficit itself were reported as separate election expenses, the amount of the deficit would be counted twice. This needs to be clarified in the Act.

Recommendation: Make a clarifying amendment to section 203 (1) (f) that: although a deficit incurred in holding a fundraising function during a campaign period is an election expense, the cost incurred in holding any fundraising function is not an election expense subject to the expense limit.

Section 186 (1) (c) - Restrictions on making political contributions

The Act requires a signed document (cheque, money order, credit card slip) from a contributor who makes a political contribution in an amount greater than $100. This requirement does not allow for an electronic transfer of funds by a debit card, or contributions by credit card on the Internet or by telephone, all of which are now standard methods for financial transactions.

Recommendation: Provision should be made for political contributions by the electronic transfer of funds from a bank account in the name of the contributor and by credit card without the need for a signature.

Section 189 (3) - Prohibited contributions must be returned

The Act requires a financial agent to recover and destroy tax receipts that have been issued for prohibited contributions. Should the Commissioner of Income Tax wish to conduct an audit, there is no assurance that invalid receipts were actually recovered and not used by the taxpayer.

Recommendation: It is recommended that instead of destroying the tax receipts, as is now required, the financial agent be required to mark them "Void" and retain the receipts for at least five years, the same time period established by section 177 (2) d) for the retention of financial records by the financial agent.

Section 193 - Restrictions on who may incur election and contestant expenses

a) The vastness of the Province and the particular geography of electoral districts often makes it impractical to expect the financial agent, of a political party or of a candidate, to incur and/or pay all election expenses. The Act does permit the financial agent to authorize others to incur election expenses, however, in a restrictive manner. The Act should be amended to permit those authorized in writing by the financial agent to incur and pay for election expenses and be reimbursed for the expenses from the designated account in a savings institution. Permit the same for leadership contestants.

Recommendation: Permit persons authorized in writing by the financial agent to incur election and contestant expenses and be reimbursed upon production of receipts.

b) Political parties may have leadership contestants who do not have access to sufficient financial resources to allow travel throughout the Province or to undertake some other contestant activity. A party may wish to assist those contestants by paying for some expenses. The Act does not provide for this situation.

Recommendation: Permit the registered political party to pay for leadership contestant expenses of all contestants.

Section 201 - Political party expenses on behalf of leadership contestant

This section stipulates that if a registered political party incurs an election expense on behalf of a candidate the financial agent of the political party must notify the financial agent of the candidate and that the election expense must be included in the election expenses of the candidate. If our recommended amendment to section 193, permitting registered political parties to pay for expenses on behalf of their leadership contestants is accepted, such expenses should be deemed to be contestant expenses of the leadership contestant and the financial agent of the party should be required to notify the contestant's financial agent.

Recommendation: Add a provision to section 201 that if a registered political party incurs a contestant expense on behalf of a leadership contestant, the expense must be included in the contestant expenses of the leadership contestant and that the financial agent of the party must notify the contestant's financial agent of any such expenses.

Section 207 - Annual financial reports by registered political parties and constituency associations, and
Section 210 - Election financing reports by registered political parties and constituency associations

To ensure adequate and consistent reporting of registered political parties and constituency associations, the financial activities and information of all controlled organizations must be disclosed. Failure to do so could result in political parties having control over significant assets which are not reported.

Recommendation: Add a section to clarify the requirement that financing reports of registered political parties and registered constituency associations include the financial information for all organizations controlled by the political entity.

Section 207 (3) (d) - Annual financial reports by registered political parties and constituency associations,
Section 209 (2) (d) - Election financing reports by candidates, and
Section 210 (2) (d) - Election financing reports by registered political parties and constituency associations

These clauses require the reporting of transfers of money, but not the transfer of goods and services. To be consistent with section 180 (6), however, this clause should be amended to include the transfer of goods and services.

Recommendation: Require reporting of transfers of 'goods and services' as well as money to be consistent with section 180 (6).

Section 211 (a) - Leadership contestant financing reports

This section establishes the information that must be disclosed in a leadership contestant financing report. If our recommended amendments to section 180 (b) regarding the permitting of transfers between registered parties and their leadership contestants are accepted, any such transfers made or received by the leadership contestant should be disclosed.

Recommendation: Add a provision requiring transfers made or received by the leadership contestant be disclosed in the leadership contestant financing report.

Section 213 - General requirements for reports

The term "generally accepted accounting principles" (GAAP) has a very strict interpretation. GAAP is established by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and requires significantly more disclosure than that of the Election Act. Reference to GAAP should be removed from the Act and another standard be prescribed by regulation, for example using the accrual basis of accounting. This will give flexibility for all who have to work with the Act and be more easily amended to meet changing needs.

Recommendation: Remove the requirement that financing reports be prepared in accordance with "generally accepted accounting principles" and replace with an accounting basis that is prescribed by regulation.

Section 223 - Deregistration of political party or constituency association for failure to file financial reports

This section requires the deregistration of a political party or a constituency association of a political party if it fails to file a required financing report under Division 6 of Part 10 of the Election Act. Section 213 of the Act permits the financial agent of a political party to file a financial report on behalf of a constituency association of the party and on behalf of party candidates. Section 224 requires that a political party be deregistered if a specified number of its candidates at a general election do not file their election financing reports. Experience has shown that political parties are not keeping contact with their constituency associations and, as a result, many constituency associations are not meeting their financial filing obligations under the Act. A deregistration consequence similar to that under section 224 in relation to candidates should be placed on political parties with regard to the financial filings of constituency associations.

Recommendation: A registered political party be deregistered if 50% or 15, whichever is the lesser number, of its constituency associations do not comply with the financial filing requirements of the Election Act.

Section 224 - Deregistration of political party for failure of candidates to file election financing reports

Upon review of a financial report submitted under section 209, it may be discovered that significant information would be disclosed in a supplementary financing report required under section 212. The failure to file such a supplementary report should be recognized and reflected in section 224.

Recommendation: Reference to the failure to file a supplementary financial report under section 212 should be made in section 224.

Section 231 - Election advertising must identify sponsor

It is impractical to print 'authorization' statements on many minor items of personal wear or use, such as buttons, caps, T-shirts, bumper stickers.

Recommendation: The Act should be amended to either exempt certain classes of such "advertising" or to specify the classes of advertising to which sponsor identification would apply.

Section 231 - Election advertising must identify sponsor

This section requires that election advertising conducted on behalf of candidates identify the name of the candidate's financial agent.

Candidates are often identified and nominated by registered political parties some time before an election. However, a candidate may not select and appoint a financial agent until a time much closer to an election. It can be difficult for candidates to have signs and brochures prepared in advance of an election if they have not selected a financial agent.

Recommendation: Add a provision permitting the name of the financial agent of the registered political party to be identified on election advertising instead of the name of the candidate's financial agent.

Appendix - Orders of the Chief Electoral Officer

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

ORDER OF THE CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

Two voters attended at the office of the district electoral officer for the Coquitlam-Maillardville electoral district for the purpose of voting under section 104 of the Election Act. They were incorrectly advised that they were voters for that electoral district. On the basis of this advice, they signed the required certification envelopes as voters for the wrong electoral district and voted as voters for that electoral district. By section 134 (1) (c) of the Election Act, the two respective certification envelopes must remain unopened and the ballots must not be considered. At the same time, the voters are prohibited by section 89 from voting in their correct electoral district, for which they were in fact registered at the time of the incorrect advice.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to Glenda Benzies
Richard Benzies

Exception provided by order

Despite section 89 of the Election Act, the voters to whom this order applies may vote in the current general election once as voters for the electoral district of which they are resident.

In accordance with section 134 (1) (c) of the Act, the certification envelopes used by the voters to vote in the election for the Coquitlam-Maillardville electoral district must remain unopened and the ballots must not to be counted. In addition, at the time that certification envelopes are removed from the ballot box in accordance with the Act, the envelopes must be marked as being subject to this order.

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

Standing nominees are required by section 57 (3) and (4) to file with the chief electoral officer a statement of disclosure under the Financial Disclosure Act and a solemn declaration of qualification before the close of the standing nomination period.

Due to the extraordinary circumstance of a death in his immediate family, and his being required to travel to Ontario within hours of the election being called, Tom Dreyer, a standing nominee in the electoral district of North Vancouver-Seymour, was unable to file the required documents before the close of the Standing Nomination period.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to the candidacy of Tom Dreyer in the May 16, 2001 provincial general election.

Exception provided by order

Despite section 57 (3) and (4) of the Election Act, the following exceptions are made in relation to Tom Dreyer:

(a) he is not subject to the requirements under section 57 (4) that his Statement of Disclosure under the Financial Disclosure Act and his solemn declaration of qualification be filed with the chief electoral officer before the close of the standing nomination period on April 23, 2001.

(b) he may file with the chief electoral officer his Statement of Disclosure under the Financial Disclosure Act and his solemn declaration of qualification, as required by section 57 (3) and (4), before the end of the nomination period (1:00 p.m., Pacific time) on May 3, 2001.

ORDER OF THE CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

On May 2, 2001, nomination documents for Michael Felgner were accepted for filing by the District Electoral Officer for the electoral district of Maple Ridge-Pitt Meadows under section 56 of the Election Act. The candidate failed to file the endorsement letter from the candidate's respective registered political party, dated April 25, 2001, with his nomination documents due to a mistake. At the close of the nomination period, an endorsement by the B.C. Action Party, a registered political party, had not been filed for this candidate as required by section 60 of the Election Act.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to Michael Felgner and the B.C. Action Party at the May 16, 2001 provincial general election.

Exception provided by order

Despite section 60 (1) (b) of the Election Act, the following exceptions are made in relation to Michael Felgner:

(a) he is not subject to the requirement under section 60 (1) (b) that the endorsement of a registered political party as its candidate in the electoral district of Maple Ridge-Pitt Meadows be filed with the district electoral officer before the end of the nomination period.

(b) The candidate may file with the district electoral officer for Maple Ridge-Pitt Meadows the party's endorsement of its candidate in that electoral district, as required by section 60 (1) (b), before the close of the close of business (4:30 p.m., Pacific time) on May 3, 2001.

ORDER OF THE CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

A number of registered voters have been incorrectly advised by Elections BC that they are residents of the electoral district of Kamloops-North Thompson when in fact they are residents of the electoral district of Shuswap.

Some voters' records along Holding Road in the Shuswap electoral district are not defined by building numbers or other information sufficiently specific to have accurately placed them within the correct electoral district.

In addition, the registered voters resident on the east side of Adams Lake were incorrectly assigned to the known road segment of Rawson Road on the west side of Adams Lake. The electoral district boundary follows the middle line of Adams Lake.

Consequently, these registered voters were mistakenly placed on the voters list for the Kamloops-North Thompson electoral district, being the incorrect electoral district for their residence.

This is the first general election following a province-wide redistribution of electoral districts.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to those registered voters whose residential addresses fall on Holding Road south of the electoral district boundary between Kamloops-North Thompson and Shuswap, and on that portion of Rawson Road on the east side of Adams Lake. This order applies at the May 16, 2001 provincial general election.

Exception provided by order

The provincial list of voters is amended to place these voters within the electoral district of Shuswap.

Despite section 29 (e) of the Election Act, the following exceptions are made in relation to the voters named above:

(a) the registered voters are not required to vote in the electoral district of Kamloops-North Thompson in which they are registered,

(b) they may vote in the electoral district of Shuswap.

ORDER OF THE CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

A voter attended Advance Voting in the electoral district of Nanaimo-Parksville for the purposes of voting under section 101 of the Election Act. By reason of his address, the voter mistakenly believed that he was a voter for the electoral district of North Vancouver-Lonsdale when in fact he is a voter for the electoral district of North Vancouver-Seymour. On this basis, he signed the required certification envelope as a voter for the wrong electoral district and voted as a voter for the electoral district of North Vancouver-Lonsdale.

By section 134 (1) (c) of the Election Act, that certification envelope must remain unopened and the ballot must not be considered. At the same time, the voter is prohibited by section 89 from voting in his correct electoral district, for which he was in fact registered at the time of voting.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to Kevin Kerney

Exception provided by order

Despite section 89 of the Election Act, the voter to whom this order applies may vote in the current general election once as a voter for the electoral district of which he is resident.

In accordance with section 134 (1) (c) of the Act, the certification envelope used by the voter to vote in the election for the North Vancouver-Lonsdale electoral district must remain unopened and the ballot must not to be counted. In addition, at the time that certification envelope is removed from the ballot box in accordance with the Act, the envelope must be marked as being subject to this order.

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

A voter whose residence is in the electoral district of Richmond Centre attended the District Electoral Office for the electoral district of Richmond-Steveston for the purpose of voting under section 104 (1) (b) of the Election Act. The voter was mistakenly given an ordinary ballot for the electoral district of Richmond-Steveston when in fact she should have been supplied with a write-in ballot. Using this ordinary ballot, the voter voted, signed the voting book as having voted, placed the ballot into the certification envelope and deposited the envelope into the ballot box.

Under section 134 (1) (c) of the Election Act, that certification envelope must remain unopened and the ballot must not be considered. At the same time, the voter is prohibited by section 89 from voting in her correct electoral district for which she was in fact registered when she was supplied with the incorrect ballot.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to Louise Marie Naef

Exception provided by order

Despite section 89 of the Election Act, the voter to whom this order applies may vote in the current general election once as a voter for the electoral district in which she is resident.

In accordance with section 134 (1) (c) of the Election Act, the certification envelope used by the voter to vote in the election for a candidate in the electoral district of Richmond-Steveston must remain unopened and the ballot must not be counted. In addition, at the time that the certification envelope is removed from the ballot box in accordance with the Election Act, the envelope must be marked as being subject to this order.

Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Victoria

Circumstances in which order is made

George Pearson Hospital is established as a special voting area for the electoral district of Vancouver-Langara under section 80 (4) of the Election Act. Under section 77 (4) of the Act, general voting is conducted for a special voting area. The voting was conducted by two election officials, facilitated by a hospital staff member and observed by a candidate representative. Due to the severe physical disabilities of the residents of this special voting area, many were incapable of signing the voting book. All voting procedures set out in section 77, but modified for bedside voting, were followed except, by mistake, the election official responsible failed to sign the voting book on behalf of the voters as provided for under section 269 (2), or to have the voters sign the book.

In my opinion, these circumstances make the following order necessary.

Application of order

This order applies to voters who voted at the voting opportunity in George Pearson Hospital on May 8, 2001.

Exception provided by order

Despite section 96 (2) (a) and (b) of the Election Act, these voters are not subject to the requirements to sign a written declaration that they are entitled to vote in the election, and sign the voting book opposite their name, residential address and voter number.

Despite section 274 (1) of the Election Act, proof that these voters have voted is the mark to the left of their respective name in the voting book, which was made by the election official when a ballot was issued to an individual.
